

GOV. LANDON TO COME HERE

THE CASTLETON DISTRICT VISIT HEADQUARTERS

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 8.—There is a delightful variety in the successive reports about what is happening to Father Coughlin. For nearly two weeks now the news agencies have balanced the diet nicely with reports that the radio priest has been disciplined, has not been disciplined, has been scolded by his bishop, has been praised by his bishop; that he was communicating with Rome by telephone, cable, and special messenger, and was roundly denounced by an unidentified personage in Vatican City. The sum and substance seems to be that he may do all the campaigning his heart desires so long as he does not call the president a liar.

From the point of view of the American citizen who does not take the passing scene too solemnly it would be a pity if Rome were to debar the Michigan priest from political activity. On the other hand there are many who believe that if the order to cease and desist were to come we should see some interesting and spectacular history under a spotlight and before a microphone.

PA NEW OBSERVES

No new detours are noted on the Detour Bulletin issued by the Pennsylvania State Highway Department for the period ending August 14. Oiling operations will take place between Sandy Lake and New Lebanon on State Route 78 and north of Sharon on State Route 718 in Mercer county during the coming week.

Lawns are looking nice and green again, following the rains of this week, having recovered almost entirely from the extreme heat during the middle of July.

Crab grass and fall grass, the bane of those who like beautiful lawns, is beginning to make its appearance. It got a good start during the recent dry spell, and is beginning to crowd out the better varieties.

Just about a year ago, a long line of concrete posts was erected on both sides of North street, to carry traffic signs, and parking limit signs. Now, it will be necessary to move every one of these posts between East and Jefferson streets because of the street paving widening now in progress. All other poles must also be set back as the paving is being widened by narrowing the sidewalk and setting the curb back on both sides of the street.

New Castle and Lawrence County are going to be just about in the center of activities incident to the visit of Governor Landon and Republican leaders for the campaign opening at West Middlesex, on August 22, it develops.

Sunday evening services at Cascade Park are still in progress, with increasing interest. The services start at 7 p. m.

Now is the time to look for the annual showers of shooting stars, the Perseid meteors, which may be seen in the northeast sky at night. There have short paths and as small enough to suggest the poetic Irish name for them, "Tears of St. Lawrence."

Government In Spain Seizes Big Industries

Sweeping Decrees Are Issued By Leftist Government To Aid Cause

PARLIAMENT IS NOW SUSPENDED

All Madrid's Jails Are Reported Filled To Capacity After Seizure

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent
MADRID, Aug. 8.—Spain's besieged Leftist government today seized control of the country's leading industries in a series of drastic decrees, effective immediately, calculated to strengthen its hand against the Fascist insurgents.

The sweeping orders affect Spanish life in nearly all its phases, giving workers unprecedented power, raising ordinary soldiers to commissioned and non-commissioned officers, and depriving industrial executives of their previous authority.

Further centralizing power, the government suspended parliament. The decrees provided:

- #### Suspend Parliament
1. Suspension of parliament until October 2, which is the scheduled date for its close, thereby making the suspension indefinite.
 2. Promotion of soldiers and militiamen to corporals, sergeants, sub-lieutenants, lieutenants and captains. The war minister will do this, "the extent and number of such promotions to be determined by circumstances."
 3. Granting of 1,000,000 pesetas (about $140,000) for military works to build up defense of Madrid.
 4. Seizure of transatlantic shipping companies.
 5. Seizure of all mining industries.
 6. Outing of hundreds of officers of the army and navy, hundreds of government workers, and scores of diplomats accused of Rightist sympathies or actual participation in the revolt.
 7. The decree promoting soldiers was expected to put the entire army in the ranks whose loyalty to the republic could not be doubted. The government thus would be enabled to

Drunken Driving Charge Is Faced By Woman Driver

Accused Of Killing Woman And Injuring Man In Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—Helen Crawford, 23-year-old mother accused of killing a woman and injuring a man in a drunken automobile spree, today was lodged in a police cell with six charges against her.

Arrested after she fled from the death car, the girl faced accusations of manslaughter, drunken driving, assault and battery, larceny of an automobile, failure to stop after an accident and driving without a license. William O'Donnell, 4, her companion in the car, also was held for manslaughter and other charges.

Funeral services for the woman victim, Mrs. Mary Breslin, 58, were being planned today.

JUDITH ALLEN SEEKS DIVORCE

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—Twenty-four hours after she packed her clothes and moved out on him, Judith Allen, pretty film actress, today had on file suit for divorce from Jack Doyle, the Irish prize-fighter.

Asking alimony of $100 a week, the suit charges that the boxer had an uncontrollable temper, drank to excess, and last New Year's eve, struck his wife while she was making a personal appearance in Indianapolis.

Next Wednesday Will Be Dollar Day

Wednesday, August 12, may be just another date on your calendar. It may be the date that you start or finish your vacation, the anniversary of your wedding or the day you have set aside to wash your car. All of these things are merely incidental to the real meaning of Wednesday, August 12.

It will be DOLLAR DAY.

Forty-eight merchants of New Castle are co-operating in a mass bargain day.

It will be a day when the dollar gets its place in the sun. A day you can make your dollar roll over and say uncle. A day when you can get more for your dollar than any other day in the year.

Between now and then you will see the advertisements of the merchants, listing the values they will offer for a dollar or for any number of dollars.

With the summer slipping around the corner, there are still a lot of summer clothes, shoes and what not that are mighty good buys even at the regular price. Dollar Day will see them sold at prices that will break your sales resistance down.

Merchants who are co-operating in this Dollar Day will have identifying placards on and in their stores. They are the places where the dollar will get a big return on Wednesday, August 12, and they are the places where you can walk in with the confidence that you are getting a lot for your money.

President Roosevelt Maps Route Of Tour Through Mid-West Drought Area

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 8.—The isolation of his family estate on the Hudson afforded President Roosevelt an ideal spot today to work on plans for his swing into the drought area, in the course of which he will meet his Republican opponent, Governor Alfred M. Landon, of Kansas.

Outwardly oblivious to the political furor created by his calm announcement that he expected to call all governors into conference—including Landon—during the course of his tour of the northern drought bowl, the corn belt and the central states, the president devoted his attention to reports from Washington concerning federal drought-relief activities.

HAMILTON ON PACIFIC COAST

National G. O. P. Chairman Receives Warm Welcome To Northwest

(International News Service)
SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 8.—John D. M. Hamilton, national Republican committee chairman, received a warm welcome to the Pacific northwest today as he began lining up local Republican leaders for the presidential drive of Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas.

Thousands of spectators applauded Hamilton when he assured them Gov. Landon, if elected, would see that the Grand Coulee dam project is carried through.

In his address Hamilton, who is on a flying trip of the west, declared that Gov. Landon's record made him "fitted to carry on the policy of conservation and reclamation which long has been traditional with the Republican party."

Landon To Make Many Personal Appearances Along Route Of Trips

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 8.—Governor Alfred M. Landon will visit every state north of the Mason-Dixon line and west of the Mississippi in his drive for the presidency.

The itinerary of his initial invasion of the east disclosed today he would visit nine states on a tour to speak in West Middlesex, Pa., Chautauqua, N. Y., and Buffalo late this month. The trip will start from Estes Park, Colo., where he will go next week to spend a few days in seclusion with his family before undertaking the presidential campaign.

To Visit Every Section
Other tours will follow, until the Republican nominee has visited every section of the west and north,

Flames Sweep Over Algeciras

Town Is Practically Destroyed Following Shelling By Gunboat

BRITISH CONSULATE DAMAGED BY SHELL

(International News Service)
GIBRALTAR, Aug. 8.—Flames swept across deserted Algeciras today while the triumphant loyalist Spanish battleship Jaime Primo, leaving behind the shattered rebel city and gunboat Eduardo Dato, steamed off to the security of Malaga.

The dead in Algeciras were estimated at more than 80, damage was immense, and the city is now practically completely evacuated, yet the greatest effect the Jaime's bombardment had was on the international situation.

The British consulate at Algeciras was damaged, the wife of the British vice-consul was wounded, and great and costly supplies of cork, ready for shipment to England, were burned up. As a result, Spanish warships were warned to keep away from Gibraltar, at the risk of being fired upon.

To Delay Landing Of Ship Hindenburg

No Reason Is Given; Drop Parachute With Pictures Of Olympic Games

(International News Service)
LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 8.—Capt. Ernst Lehmann, commanding the German airship Hindenburg, radioed the naval air station here today he would not attempt to land the huge ship, carrying 50 passengers from Germany, here until 6 P. M. No reason was given for the delay in docking.

After circling over New York, the Hindenburg passed over the Lakehurst field about 11 A. M. As it circled above the hangar, it cut its motors and dipped its nose toward the mooring mast. Shortly after it was seen swerving to the right, the ship. It then headed south toward Toms river, N. J.

As the airship passed over the hangar a parachute was dropped with pictures of the Olympic games.

PARTY CONFERENCES WITH LANDON WILL OCCUR IN THIS CITY

Governor Landon To Remain In New Castle Over Week End Period

TENTATIVE PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

Western Pennsylvania And State Leaders Confer Here On Plans

Chairmen and vice chairmen of 26 western Pennsylvania county committees of the Republican party met with State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor and General Arrangements Chairman Robert P. Outhwaite, of Topeka, Kansas, today at noon in the New Castle Field Club. The purpose of the meeting was to outline the plans for the Landon rally at West Middlesex on August 22, and to discuss with the various chairmen the party they will take in the arrangements.

Out of the meeting came two facts of significance to New Castle. First, Governor Alfred M. Landon, the Republican candidate for president and his party, will spend the night of August 22 in New Castle, and second, the general headquarters of the rally will be in New Castle at the Castleton Hotel. The reason for this is that West Middlesex has no hotel accommodations and those in nearby cities of Mercer county are inadequate.

All Western Pennsylvania

Every county in Western Pennsylvania west of Blair county was represented at the meeting today in the field club. With State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor were J. Ed Green, state secretary and assistant to Mr. Outhwaite, who is in charge of the arrangements for the West Middlesex meeting. James H. Duff, executive state committeeman of Pittsburgh, was present also.

All of the arrangements for the rally which is the opening of the national Republican campaign will be in charge of Robert P. Outhwaite. Mr. Outhwaite is a resident of Topeka, Kansas, and had charge of the notification ceremonies in Topeka when Governor Landon was notified of his nomination. Because of the magnitude of the West Middlesex rally the national Republican committee is taking over all the arrangements. The state committee of Pennsylvania is co-operating.

Two Are Killed; Six Injured As Auto Overturns

Tragic Accident Occurs Near Towanda, Pa., Last Night

(International News Service)
TOWANDA, Pa., Aug. 8.—Six persons who escaped death that befell two companions in the flaming wreckage of a runaway sedan, lay in Blossburg State Hospital today, three of them in critical condition.

The dead, killed when their automobile crashed into a culvert and overturned in flames into a small creek near Sylvania, were Joseph Osler, 31, of Mainburg, Pa., and Clara George, eight, of Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. George, parents of Clara, and Mrs. Eva Osler, wife of the dead man, were so severely injured and burned they may die, hospital attaches said.

Barbara George, 10, sister of the dead child; Virginia Osler, 12, and James Osler, 10, children of the Mainburg victim, also were seriously hurt, all but the dead were pulled from the wrecked car shortly after it burst into flames.

Coroner R. H. Person said George, driver of the car in which the two families were "out for a ride," apparently stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake as the machine started down a steep grade almost within sight of the Osler home.

Out of control, the heavily loaded sedan, overturned several times, crashed into the culvert and fell upside down into the shallow stream.

U.S. Relay Team Ties Record For 400 Meter Race

Sprinters Win Heat In Relay Event At Olympics Today

FINALS WILL BE RUN TOMORROW

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—With the rapid Jesse Owens bidding again for still another Olympic laurel, the American 400-meter relay team tied the 1932 Olympic record of 40 seconds flat in winning its heat this afternoon. Italy finished second.

Owens ran as lead-off man, with Ralph Metcalfe of Chicago running the second leg, Foy Draper of California third, and Frank Wykoff as anchor man.

A perfect pass of the baton from Metcalfe to Draper carried America ten yards in front and Wykoff increased it to twelve.

New Political Organization Leads Revolt

Constitutional Democrats To Oppose Re-election Of President Roosevelt

POLICIES ARE NOT APPROVED

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Aug. 8.—A new political organization to lead a revolt of Democrats against President Roosevelt in twenty-two states stretching from Massachusetts to Texas will be born today as the outgrowth of the conference of constitutional Democrats here.

In some states, it will flat-footedly support Gov. Alfred M. Landon, the Republican presidential nominee and in others—in the south—it will urge Democratic voters to stay away from the polls in protest of President Roosevelt's administration.

MAY CALL JOHN BARRYMORE

Likely Witness In Court Fight

"Don Juan" Of Screen May Testify In Mary Astor
Suit In Los Angeles

ABOUT READY TO LEAVE SANITARIUM

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—John Barrymore today was definitely headed toward the witness chair in the sensational court fight of glamorous Mary Astor to regain custody of her daughter, which is to be resumed here Monday.

Attorney Aaron Sapiro, representing the handsome screen "Don Juan," announced he had no objection to Barrymore accepting service of a subpoena when he leaves the sanitarium where he has been recovering from a heart ailment.

At the same time it was learned that the auburn-haired actress, undaunted by the loss of her flaming "charm rating" diary, has started to write a new chronicle of her experiences, this time with black rather than lavender ink, however.

Whether the new diary follows the rating system of the old, in which a "best 10" among Hollywood's handsomest actors was presented, with graphi reasons for the selections, was uncertain.

The exquisitely beautiful actress already has shattered the ego of Hollywood's greatest loves; it has been revealed that a widely known professional man rather than a typical Adonis, is the "tops" of the rapturous recital.

Barrymore himself occupied third position in the rating, being led by George S. Kaufman, New York and Hollywood playwright and the unexpected "office man."

This "old" diary, covering slightly more than seven years of Miss Astor's interesting life up to April, 1935, comprises the principal evidence that Dr. Franklin Thorpe, former husband of the actress, believes will convince the judge she is unfit to have custody of their child.

Dr. Thorpe obtained four-year-old Marilyn Thorpe and an unconcealed divorce April 12, 1935. Miss Astor now claims he threatened to "scandalize" her and otherwise force her to let the divorce go by default.

NEW POLITICAL ORGANIZATION LEADS REVOLT

of the conference, indicated. He stated many would support the Landon-Knox ticket while the others would merely battle against Roosevelt.

"I take it to oppose Roosevelt may do Landon some good," he added significantly.

Read said, "I don't know" whether the 42 constitutional Democrats here would make plans for a national convention in Chicago on constitution day next month. There were widespread reports such a convention was planned but they lacked confirmation.

The Missourian had an almost similar reply to questions whether he would stump for Governor Landon. At first he explained that "I'm going to speak against the Roosevelt administration" and pressed he added "I won't say what I'm going to do, I don't know what will happen." He said that if new issues arise, he may have something further to say, but did not comment further on what some observers regarded as an inference that he might complete his bolt by backing Governor Landon if developments warrant.

As the conference finished its first day session behind locked doors and prepared for its second day, Senator Reed, as official spokesman for the group, said:

"The conference is of one opinion, namely that the policies of the present administration are anti-Democratic and anti-American and that every honorable means be used to defeat the new deal, its advocates and its sponsors."

bride became hysterical. She rushed to the body, but was held back by witnesses. Then she collapsed.

At a hospital sedatives were administered to quiet her. She was reported in a state of collapse today.

Promptly Nadeau and Mrs. Zioncheck drove up in front of the Arctic building at 6 o'clock and waited ten minutes.

"I'll go up and see what's keeping him," Nadeau told Mrs. Zioncheck.

Nadeau found Zioncheck's office locked. He got the janitor to let him in and saw Zioncheck sitting at his desk in shirt sleeves penciling a note.

Nadeau leaned over his shoulder, commenting: "What's the deep secret?" Zioncheck hid the note.

"Oh, let it go and come on, we'll be late," Nadeau said.

While Nadeau was getting the hat, Zioncheck dashed into another room and plunged through an open window before his brother-in-law could stop him.

The suicide note which Zioncheck had been writing was unfinished. Incoherent, it read:

"My only hope in life was to improve the condition of an unfair economic system that held no promise to those that all the wealth of even a decent chance to survive let alone live . . . ?"

It was written on United States house of representatives stationery, with the name "Marion A. Zioncheck" printed in one corner and "naval affairs committee" in another.

Zioncheck's body narrowly missed striking W. H. MacFarlane, a loan broker.

Holland won the second heat. Win Heat In 1600 Meter Relay.

The United States then won its heat in the 1600 meter relay trials, beating Hungary and Poland, who finished as named, with a 40 yard lead.

Harold Cagle led off and gained a 12-yard lead. Robert Young increased the lead to 20 yards, and Eddie O'Brien and Al Fitch each added another ten, Fitch finishing pulled up.

Finals in the two relays will be tomorrow.

Americans continued to add to the tally they held in the decathlon as it wound up today.

The Americans were expected to take crowns in both the 400 and 1600-meter relays today and the three American decathlon contestants scored heavily again to increase their lead in this event, also another virtually certain win for the United States.

In the remaining main events on the Olympic program for today, however, the Americans are slated to take a back seat, and they started doing this early. Foreign stars posed best times in men's swimming heats, and the Dutch menace in women's swimming evidenced itself early, with Rie Mastenbroek posting a new Olympic record of 10:6.4 in the first heat of the 100 meter free style event. Katherine Rawls of the United States was third at 10:8 trailing Arend of Germany at 10:7.

victory, which had suffered under the three-week delay in their push on Madrid, is now renewed.

Get New Planes

Some countries in Europe are feverishly trying to limit the Spanish war of Reds against Whites to Spain alone by agreement among all powers to refrain from intervening, but eighteen war planes already acquired by the Whites from a source abroad which has not been officially revealed promise to be of decisive importance.

"The White newspaper 'Heraldo de Aragon' in Saragossa hints at the origin of the planes by remarking:

"Tomorrow we shall have in Saragossa four modern Savoia airplanes with which we shall exterminate the enemy."

Savoias are crack Italian war planes.

See Intervention Hope

Burgos was delighted by notice of the Italian government it would sequester the property of all Spaniards in Italy until compensation is made by the Madrid government for destruction of Italian property in the Spanish revolution.

Likewise news that four Germans had been shot by a Red tribunal in Barcelona was taken here to open the possibility of intervention by the Reich on the side of the Spanish Whites.

Soviet collection of funds for the Madrid and Barcelona Reds is another ominous indication that chances of a general embargo over the Spanish affair are dangerously strong and growing stronger.

ating with Mr. Outhwaite and this afternoon various committees are being named to care for the multitude of details of the rally.

About 75 Present

Guests at the meeting today were owners and editors of newspapers in the western part of Pennsylvania. In all there were approximately 75 men and women present. For the Lawrence county Republican committee, Chairman Roger W. Rowland was present, as was Mrs. Milled Ketterer, of Ellwood City, the vice chairman.

The announcement that New Castle will be the headquarters of the rally, places a load of responsibility upon the county committee here. The Castle-on Hotel has been taken over by the state committee for the August 22 week-end and rooms there now are available only through the state committee.

Among the prominent Republicans who are expected to be present are Congressman Bertrand Snell of New York, Republican leader in the house; Congressman Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, eastern manager of the Landon-Knox campaign; possibly Governor Nice of Maryland, and a long list of other notables.

Local Committees

Chairman Rowland of the Lawrence county Republican committee has made two committee appointments thus far. Fred L. Rentz, president of The News, has been named chairman of the reception committee, and Sheriff Edward D. Frichard has been named chairman of the traffic committee. The traffic problem will be a colossal one and entirely too large for the city officers to handle without assistance. Other committees will be named later by Mr. Rowland.

It is probable that members of the national committee and of the general arrangements committee will come to New Castle several days before August 22. Whether or not Governor Alf M. Landon will come to New Castle by special train and then be taken to West Middlesex by automobile is not definitely settled as yet. Whatever the arrangements, he will return to New Castle that night and spend the night here.

National Leaders Here

Among the early arrivals this afternoon for the conference were a number of national leaders in the Young Republican movement. Among them were J. K. Bradley, national chairman of the Young Republicans; Wallace Stearns, Boston, Mass., eastern regional director of the Young Republicans; John Y. Willis, of Duncannon, Pa., Pennsylvania state chairman of the Young Republicans; Margaret J. Eaton, New York City, co-director of the eastern region, Young Republicans; and H. W. Jarvis, Philadelphia, vice chairman of the Pennsylvania Young Republicans.

Here To Monday Morning

Chairman Rowland of the Lawrence county Republican committee announced the Lawrence county committee on arrangements to work with the general committee of the state and national organizations. The members are: M. A. Bickett, chairman; Fred L. Rentz and Joe Hartland.

It was also informally stated that Governor Landon would probably remain in New Castle until Monday morning, when the special train would proceed to Chautauqua via Greenville and Erie, with stops likely in these cities. Governor Landon's train will not travel on Sunday, it was indicated.

Among later arrivals at the conference shortly after noon were E. Arthurweeney, of Greensburg, candidate of the Republican party for auditor general of the state, and Duncan McCallum, assistant state chairman of the Republican party.

Widow Robbed Of
$1,600 In Jewelry

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—A north-side widow reported to police today she was robbed of $1600 in jewelry by thieves whose knowledge of diamonds was apparently incomplete.

From among four bar-pins, the thieves selected one set with 36 diamonds and valued at $1,000 and ignored the others but took two rings worth only a dollar each.

The widow, Mrs. Gertrude Mason, reported when she returned to her home early today with her son, Danny Mason, and his wife. The glass in the front door had been broken with a pillow taken from a chair on the front porch.

Effective Today

Each decree was made effective today.

Scores of Rightists suspected of implication in the revolt were arrested early today throughout the capital. All Madrid's jails, including the women's prison and police headquarters, were filled to capacity.

Management of the street car company of Madrid was handed over to the workers by the city administration.

A workers' committee announced immediately that "we want co-operation of the people. We don't want anyone to travel without paying."

The government claimed the rebels of Granada were in a desperate situation, and that the population was fleeing the countryside to avoid starvation.

The government was more confident than ever of ultimate victory today as the civil war entered its fourth week. It was announced reports from all fronts indicated operations were being carried out with success.

"We admit the situation is particularly complicated," a statement said, "but there can now be no doubt as to the result of the way between Democratic freedom and military slavery."

Today there was a full in activity in the Sierras north of Madrid, where rebels have been entrenched almost from outbreak of the revolt. Loyal forces were busy fortifying their position. No serious fighting was expected here today.

Reinforcements were sent to San Sebastian to crush any rebel attempt to recapture the city.

The government was especially pleased with progress of Loyalists marching upon Saragossa, rebels stronghold in the northeast.

Loot Stolen In Pittsburgh Home
Includes Two One Dollar

Summer White House officials had anticipated such an attitude on the part of Governor Landon. The nearest comparable situation in recent history came shortly after election in 1932 when Mr. Roosevelt, still governor of New York, but also president-elect, accepted an invitation from President Herbert Hoover to come to Washington to discuss possible joint action in the financial field, both national and international, in advance of inauguration.

Mr. Roosevelt conferred in November of 1932 and again early in 1933 on those vital subjects—although no agreement for pressing a mutual policy was reached.

The general rule is that an invitation from the president, like a bid from any foreign court, constitutes "a demand." The recipient, in deference to the office of the presidency, accepts, regardless of his personal politics or prior engagements. Plans Western Tour

Mr. Roosevelt plans to leave for the west about August 25, heading straight for the Dakotas. He will spend several days touring those states to learn visually how his program of drought-relief is progressing and then meet at some point still to be designated with the governors of North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana. Also present at this conference will be the

LANDON TO MAKE MANY PERSONAL APPEARANCES

Chautauqua the night of Monday, August 24, spend the next two days in Buffalo, where he speaks the night of August 26 and return on a day time trip through Ohio, Indiana and Missouri.

To Appear On Train

Under the present plans, the Republican nominee, will make scores of rear-end train appearances going to and returning from each campaign speech. His advisers have urged him to make "personal appearances" in as many towns as possible and he has agreed.

This same procedure will be followed on future trips, one of which may be into New England in early September. A final decision on such a tour was left open, due to President Roosevelt's proposed conference of governors from mid-western drought states at Des Moines, Ia., about the same time. Landon announced he would accept such an invitation to confer with the president.

The governor declared he would abandon all campaign plans if they interfered with his administration of the state of Kansas. He said plainly his "work as governor will come ahead of everything else."

standard bearer would be glad to participate in a federal-state drought-relief conference when and if invited.

Summer White House officials had anticipated such an attitude on the part of Governor Landon. The nearest comparable situation in recent history came shortly after election in 1932 when Mr. Roosevelt, still governor of New York, but also president-elect, accepted an invitation from President Herbert Hoover to come to Washington to discuss possible joint action in the financial field, both national and international, in advance of inauguration.

Mr. Roosevelt conferred in November of 1932 and again early in 1933 on those vital subjects—although no agreement for pressing a mutual policy was reached.

The general rule is that an invitation from the president, like a bid from any foreign court, constitutes "a demand." DINNER-BRIDGE FOR MR. AND MRS. EMLEY

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Emley, of Edison avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Phillips Johnson gave a dinner and bridge party last night, with twenty-one guests attending besides the host's mother and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gordon, parents of the guest of honor.

Many beautiful prizes were awarded to the guests, gifts going for high and low scores, a traveling prize for making one's bid with honors, taking tricks with the deuce of trump, and the winner of a game of Keno.

Out-of-town guests were numerous, including Mr. and Mrs. Craig Succop and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wygant of Butler; Miss Darch Clyde of Swarthmore, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. John Early, of Steubenville, Ohio.

SPECIAL DANCE AT FIELD CLUB TONIGHT

A group of the young married set of the New Castle Field club has arranged to have an informal dance in the club rooms tonight at 9:30 o'clock for club members only.

This dance is being held in addition to the regular club parties and is not included with the program of dances sponsored by the social committee under the social fund. Plans were completed to this effect upon several requests of the membership and the first of this nature will take place this evening.

P. W. Club

Cards formed a pleasant evening's pastime for P. W. members when they met Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Ann Flynn, Dewey avenue. Awards fell to Mrs. Elizabeth Bruce and Mrs. Edward Houk. At a seasonable hour, refreshments were served.

On August 19, Mrs. Elizabeth Bruce, Bleakley avenue, will entertain.

LOCAL TEACHERS HOME FROM CALIFORNIA TRIP

A most interesting trip, and experiences of weather conditions from 120 degrees to 74 degrees, were related by four enthusiastic young ladies, the Misses Harriet Truby, Consuelo Short, Jane Young and Sara Patterson, all teachers in New Castle, who have just completed a several weeks journey to California. They left early in July, via motor.

They followed the route to Nashville, Tenn., Little Rock, Ark., and went on to Dallas, Texas, where they spent their first week-end, taking in the centennial. From there they went to Phoenix, Ariz., and on to Grand Canyon where they saw the sunrise, and state it is a beautiful sight, and one that travelers should never miss. From there they went to Needles, over the desert and on to San Bernardino, Cal., where they remained for a few days, and upon departing, headed for Los Angeles, Cal., and remained for a few days visit.

They took the coast road to Santa Cruz, Cal., a summer resort, and chose the Skyline Boulevard, a state park of California, following the route on the crest of the mountains. At San Francisco, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Barry, the latter being a former Franklin girl, who is known here.

Upon going to Sacramento, they journeyed to Reno, Nev., and reported a keen disappointment in this part of the country. They crossed Salt Lake desert to Salt Lake City and attended the famous tangle lake while there and remained for the week-end. A dip in the salt lake, provided a sensational thrill, that still tops their stories to New Castle.

They went to Yellow Stone National Park, where they found some excitement with the bears and cubs. One big black fellow who poked his nose in the window of the car, trying to get in.

They traveled to Denver, and Colorado Springs, and their last stop enroute home, was the visit to Pikes Peak, where they saw the sun rise, a picturesque sight. Sunday, they returned to Colorado, where they were the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Marcellus Nesbit, he being formerly of New Castle. They attended the services at the U. P. church where he is pastor, and in the evening, the four young ladies were their dinner guests.

They went to Omaha, Neb., as their last stop, and arrived in New Castle Thursday evening, at 8:30 o'clock.

COMMITTEE MEETING AT McCULLOUGH HOME

Next Monday evening at 7:30, in the home of Mrs. Charles McCullough, at Edinburg, arrangements will be further completed for the flower show to be sponsored by the Mahoning Valley Garden club, on Friday, August 21.

Mrs. McCullough is general chairman for the event which will be held in the band stand building at Edinburg. She is being assisted by several committees which will attend to the various details.

The show was the chief topic of conversation at the annual picnic which took place on Thursday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, on the Edinburg road. There were 45 guests present for the supper served on the lawn after which the evening was informal.

New Director

In honor of Miss Frances McKillop, newly elected director of the International board of Quota club, a dinner was enjoyed this week near Zelenople by the Pittsburgh Quotarians. Miss McKillop is well known to members of the local club.

She has recently returned from Chicago where she and Miss Ann Adams, president of the Pittsburgh Club, attended as delegates, the international convention.

Copper Reunion

The annual Copper reunion will be held at the home of L. J. Copper, near Princeton, Thursday of the coming week, August 13. Friends, relatives and neighbors will participate with dinner being served at 12 o'clock noon. A sports program for all ages and a business meeting will be features of the afternoon.

LINDNER CLASS HAS PICNIC AT LAKEWOOD

Journeying to Lakewood Friday evening members of the Lindner Bible class of Highland U. P. church held a family picnic.

At the long tables which were attractive with their decorations of colorful food and summer flowers, were placed for 46 guests.

Among them was Mrs. C. G. Lindner. Grace was said by Henry Brenneman. On the committee were Mrs. John Brinton, Mrs. A. P. Purst and Mrs. Kenneth Brest.

Evening hours were spent about the lake, some of the folks boating while others just enjoyed being near the water and visiting.

V. F. W. AUXILIARY PLANS FOR PICNIC

Plans for a basket picnic for members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the V. F. W., and their families, were outlined at the meeting of the auxiliary in the Legion Home Thursday evening, with President Elsie Staebler presiding.

The event will take place at Cascade Park, Wednesday evening, August 13, at 6 p. m. sharp. A program with prizes will take place following the dinner. Mrs. Emma Woods and Mrs. Mabel Kennedy will have charge of the picnic arrangements, with Mrs. Irene Cage and Mrs. Ruth Conner in charge of the entertainment.

Plans were also outlined at the meeting Thursday for a card party at the Legion Home Thursday evening, August 20, with Mrs. Elita Keelen as chairlady. Mesdames Nellie Nowling, Ethel Bell, Betty Stoner, Evelyn Woods, will assist her and Mrs. Lucy Wooley and her committee will have charge of the lunch.

A spaghetti supper is also planned for Saturday evening, August 29, with Mrs. Louise Evans as chairlady. Mrs. Nettie Woods will have charge of the dining room.

WHINNERY-QUAKER REUNION AT SALEM

Wednesday, August 19, has been set for the annual Whinnery-Quaker reunion, which will take place again this year in Salem, O.

Making arrangements for the event which always attracts a large number of relatives in this part of Pennsylvania, as well as Ohio, are the president, Ralph Crawford, and the secretary, Edna M. Dellzell. A fine program will be presented in the afternoon which promises to be of much interest. Many of the older members of the connection will be present in their Quaker garb.

Among those from this vicinity expecting to be present are Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hamilton and family, of Pennsylvania avenue, the latter of whom was for a number of years, on the historical committee. Through their efforts, a book was published on the occasion of the 25th year of the organization, and it contains many interesting facts about this well known family.

Rice-Dripp

Announcement is made of the marriage of Helen Elaine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Rice, of 7th street, West Pittsburg, to Frank Dripp of Koppel, Pa.

The couple was married Friday, July 17, at 8:30 in the evening, in Weilsburg, W. Va. Rev. J. E. Billings performed the ceremony, in the parsonage of the M. E. church, on Charles street.

The bride had as her attendant, her cousin, Miss Dwantha Hilyard of Pittsburg and the groom's best man was Bert Voland, of West Pittsburg.

From Weilsburg, the bridal couple motored to Parkersburg to bring back the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. J. L. Rice, who had been visiting there, to her home in Beaver Falls. Enroute, they stopped at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hilyard of South Hills, Pittsburgh, where a wedding feast was served the party. They returned later to the bride's home where they expect to make their home for the present.

Williams-Riley

Of local interest is announcement made by Mrs. Jessie Riley, of Allen street, regarding the recent marriage of her son, Paul G. Riley to Miss Marion Williams, of Los Angeles, Calif.

The ceremony took place Saturday August 1 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, of 1440 West 95th street, Los Angeles. The Rev. Miller, pastor of the Presbyterian church there, officiated.

The bride was attractive in a gown of dusky blue crepe with matching accessories and she carried roses. Mr. Riley was formerly a New Castle resident. During the past three years he has been located at Los Angeles being affiliated with the U. S. Motor Company.

Camping Trip

M. S. S. club girls will spend the next two weeks camping at the Venditto cottage near New Wilmington.

The trip was planned at the last club session in the home of Sylvia Vannoni. Cards were enjoyed, the prize falling to Mary Sansosti. Special guests were Carol and Lark Martine, Jo Esposito, Edith and Payllis De Garbo. Refreshments were served, Gypsy Vannoni aiding the hostess, who was afterwards presented with a club token.

Jolly Ten Breakfast

Jolly Ten club enjoyed breakfast in the open at Cascade Park Thursday morning. Covers were arranged for nine guests including Mrs. Frank Wert and Mrs. Howard Jenkins, of Youngstown, who were over for the day.

The next meeting will be on August 13, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis, Scotland Lane.

W. B. A. Officers Club

W. B. A. 98 Officers Club will hold their annual picnic at Hill's Beach on Monday evening, August 10. An invitation has been extended to members of Review 98 and all going have been instructed to get in touch with Mrs. Ira Campbell or Mrs. Edgar Sherbine.

At 6 o'clock a delicious picnic dinner will be served in the grove.

EPWORTH M. E. GROUP SOCIAL-ELECTION MEET

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Epworth M. E. church, held an interesting and most successful meeting in their assembly rooms at the church Friday afternoon, with Mrs. William Jones, in charge.

Following the usual procedure with Mrs. M. J. Hamilton leading the devotional period, and prayers by Mrs. C. S. Hart, and Mrs. J. C. Wimer, an entertaining program was contributed. Mrs. Lillian Buckner, vocalist, pleased with a solo with Mrs. Anna Pyle, accompanist. Afterwards, Mrs. P. H. Kearns gave an interesting "Mite Box" program with Mrs. M. J. Hamilton, Mrs. W. J. Marshall and Mrs. Edward Mayberry assisting. A liberal offering was taken up, and an election of officers for the coming year, occurred with the following results.

Mrs. Willard Jones was named president; Mrs. W. J. Marshall, first vice; Mrs. J. A. Galbreath, second vice; Mrs. J. P. Allen, corresponding secretary; Miss Eva Donaldson, recording secretary; Mrs. Pearl Munder, treasurer; Mrs. P. H. Kearns, M. E. Caldwel extension superintendent; Mrs. George Forrest, stewardship secretary; Mrs. Frank Cypher, Little Light Bearers superintendent; Mrs. J. A. Galbreath, Maxwell counselor; Mrs. H. G. Voorhees, interdenominational secretary.

The 1937 reunion will be held at the home of John Kuhn, of Lowellville, with Mr. Kuhn and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell as hosts.

G. T. B. CLUB HONORS BIRTHDAY AT MEETING

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. William Bailes, was fittingly celebrated Thursday evening at the meeting of the G. T. B. club associates in the home of Mrs. Rose Alexander on Lutton street.

Her home was beautifully decorated with bouquets of flowers throughout, and the diningroom table where lunch was served at a later hour was centered with a large birthday cake, pastel appointments prevailing. The evening was climaxed when the honored one was showered with a collection of many lovely gifts, as mementoes of the happy event.

During the leisure time that ensued, games and conversation filled in, with the main award falling to Mrs. William Bailes. Other prizes were presented to Mrs. Ray Nicholson, Mrs. Oliver Fleegeer, Mrs. Kenneth Boalick, Mrs. Lee Speer and Mrs. Rose Alexander.

Plans were made for a wiener roast to be held at the summer cottage of Mrs. William Bailes, located at Rose Point the coming week, the date to be announced. Their next regular assembly on August 20, will be with Mrs. Oliver Fleegeer, Boyles avenue.

The inv daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Boalick, Carol Ann, was a special guest of the evening.

Engagement News

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Abbatiello of Park avenue, Cincinnati, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Angela, to Joseph Farone of Cincinnati, O., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Farone of 109 Maitland street, New Castle.

The wedding will take place sometime in September, at St. Monica's Roman Catholic church, at Cincinnati, O.

Ki Nu Postponement

Picnic planned by the 1926 Ki Nu club for next Thursday at Cascade Park has been postponed indefinitely.

REBEKAH CHAPTER HAS CASCADE PICNIC

In the neighborhood of 50 guests attended a picnic held in Cascade Park Friday evening, by members of the Rebekah chapter of the First U. P. church with others in their families, and visitors as special participants.

Mrs. Chas. M. McNickle was general chairman for the affair and she was ably assisted by Mrs. Bertha Truby, Mrs. Pearl Morrow, Mrs. Lyle Hughes and Mrs. Marie Smith. Evening hours were spent enjoying various park amusements.

MANY RELATIVES AT FAMILY REUNION

Thirty sixth annual reunion of the Stoner-Cover families was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stoner, on the Ellwood-Portersville road, August 5.

With 75 people in attendance, they soon made away with the picnic dinner which was served from well laden tables arranged on the lawn underneath the big apple trees. The day was spent in visiting and a business session was featured by an election of officers: President, W. B. Stoner; vice president, L. O. Cover; secretary, Mina Matthews; treasurer, Lincoln Stoner.

The 1937 reunion will be held at the home of John Kuhn, of Lowellville, with Mr. Kuhn and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell as hosts.

FIELD CLUB CONCERT IS WELL ATTENDED

Adding variety to the summer program of festivities at the New Castle Field club, the open air concert held Friday evening on the front terrace, was greatly appreciated by the large audience of listeners.

With perfect weather the guests enjoyed the selections offered by the Cathedral orchestra under the direction of Ben S'ulansky, beginning shortly after 8 o'clock. The program lasted for a period of a couple of hours or longer.

Patton-Ferrara

Miss Dorothy Patton and Louis Ferrara, both of New Castle, were married by Rev. A. T. Williams at the Hoover Heights parsonage Friday evening.

It was a quiet wedding, attended by just a few friends. The maid of honor was Miss Aileen Dunkerley and the best man, Jack Allison. The bride wore a pretty outfit of blue crepe, with white accessories.

Relief Corps

Plans for a picnic at Cascade Park on August 25, have been made by the Relief Corps of the G. A. R. As this affair is an annual one, a large number of interested persons is expected to attend. Social events for the month of September are also being discussed.

1932 Club

Members of the 1932 Club will gather in the home of Mrs. John A. Earl on Tuesday afternoon of next week. This will be in the form of a 12 o'clock luncheon and card playing will feature the afternoon hours.

At Sharon Park

Miss Katherine Jones of this city received the guest prize at an informal entertainment given by Miss Mazie Dunham, of Sharon, for her bridge club, this week. Two tables were in progress and afterwards, dainty refreshments were served.

M. And N. C. Club

As guests of Mrs. Mary Matthews, at her home on West Clayton street, Thursday afternoon, the M. and N. C. enjoyed a round of cards. Winners in the contests were Mrs. H. A. Leighty, and Mrs. Hattie Nowling. Sweets were served during play.

On August 20, the next assembly will be in the home of Mrs. R. E. O'Donnell, Ashland avenue.

Amity Club

Miss Florence Carney, Gilmore St. will receive Amity club members in her home on Tuesday evening.

WORTHY MISTRESSES PLAN FOR CORN ROAST

Mrs. Myra Parks was hostess to Past Worthy Mistresses club to the L. O. L. I. in the home of Mrs. Julia Miller on East Washington street, Friday afternoon.

Bingo afforded entertainment, the prizes going to Mrs. Julia Miller, Mrs. Kate Womeldruff and Mrs. Martha Morse. The president, Mrs. Blanche Lewis, called a business session at which eleven members answered roll call and one guest, Mrs. Tillie Remley.

Arrangements were discussed for a cornroast in the near future at the home of Mrs. Amanda Bolinger, on Temple avenue. The place of the next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Martha Morse, 335 Sampson street, September 4.

EAST SIDE CLUB AT CRAMER RESIDENCE

Next week's meeting of the East Side Garden club on Wednesday, at one o'clock, will be held in the home of Mrs. Leonard Cramer, 729 County Line street, instead of with Mrs. C. R. Brenner on Huron avenue.

This meeting is a particularly important one as the East Side gardeners are all enthusiastic about the flower show which will be held under their auspices on Friday, August 28, in Epworth M. E. church.

CIVIL SERVICE IN COUNTIES

THE Ohio State Civil Service commission has decided to extend the merit system to county government, placing at least 10,000 jobs under competitive examination.

This is an encouraging maneuver in the battle to take politics out of government. It penetrates another unit of administration that employs hundreds of thousands over the country.

This step marks recognition of the fact that taxpayers have as much right to the protection of civil service in county government as they do in the larger state and federal departments.

Here is a procedure that has been delayed too long. The Ohio example should be followed throughout the country and those benefitting by this civil service provision should be obliged to keep out of active politics.

JUST 25 YEARS AGO

This summer, when it is possible to cross the continent by airplane in about half a day, it is instructive to recall the fact that the first cross country flight was made just 25 years ago, and required more than a month of starts and waits and repairs and fresh starts.

Hearst had offered a prize of $50,000 for the first person to fly across the country, making as many stops as necessary, but finishing the trip by October 10, 1911. So difficult was the feat that very few aviators were tempted to try it. One started from San Francisco and got only as far as Tucson, Arizona. Another started from New York City and cracked up at Elmira. The third, Calbraith P. Rodgers, who started from Sheepshead Bay, L. I., on September 17, finally made it, but he landed in Pasadena on November 5, nearly a month too late to collect the prize.

A special train followed this flyer, carrying an emergency repair shop. His continuous flights were short, his waits long. Weather and accidents held him up again and again.

It is difficult today, with our present planes and air transportation schedules, to realize the glory of that flight. It seems now like something in a movie comedy.

ANOTHER RACE FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP

Once more an effort is to be made to "lift" the America's Cup. It was in 1851 that the schooner yacht America sailed around the Isle of Wight in competition with British yachts and won the trophy outright. Subsequently it was presented to the New York Yacht Club, to be subject to challenge in the interest of international sport. Since then fifteen attempts by British craft have been made to carry it in triumph back to the other side of the Atlantic.

Sir Thomas Lipton, now dead, was an inveterate challenger with his series of Shamrocks. In 1934 T. O. M. Sopwith, representing the Royal Yacht Squadron, raced Harold S. Vanderbilt's Rainbow and lost after a gallant fight. Under the same auspices Sopwith proposes to come over again in September of next year with his new Endeavour II.

The challengers have always been gentlemen who have taken their defeats with good grace. They have invariably made many friends, and should it happen that the Sopwith boat at last won the Cup, we dare say that numerous American citizens would be quite cheerful over the result. After so many rebuffs, something substantial would seem to be due the yachtsmen from abroad.

Again the loss of the Cup would inspire popular interest, since the New York Yacht Club, as its custodian, would be obligated to win it back. Forced to build for strength as well as speed, and sailing in unknown waters, we would be put to a test such as we have not yet experienced.

FARMERS WHO REFUSE TO BE FOOLED

More interesting than the declaration by the Hyde Park council of war that the New Deal is to start an "aggressive campaign" without delay is the intimation that Candidate Roosevelt will shortly visit the Western drought area, instead of waiting for weeks according to the original schedule.

This shift in political strategy is easily understood. There is nothing the president can do personally to relieve the drought situation, but his aid is greatly desired by the New Deal managers for the political situation, which is giving evidence of getting out of hand.

For disquieting reports have been coming to Hyde Park of the farmers' growing dissatisfaction with the New Deal. The emergency relief measures that have been put into effect they rightly regard as their due. Any administration confronted by such a disaster would have done the same.

But the Western farmers have a bone to pick with the New Deal in its general handling, of regular farm relief. They have learned a lot since the original AAA, with its economy of scarcity, aggravated the damages flowing from one of the most serious droughts in American history. And now another drought has emphasized the peril of tampering with nature's ways.

This has been one of the farmers' most obvious grievances. But now they are particularly resenting the role—into which the New Deal would force them—of pawns on the political chessboard. They have gathered, by reason of the cash hand-outs under the old AAA and its successor and the eagerness with which the administration rushed to their relief in the drought, that their votes are regarded by the New Deal high command as safely in the bag.

Whatever the situation may have been a few weeks ago in the drought region, there are signs that it is undergoing a change as disturbing as it was unexpected to the New Dealers whose special job is to line up the farmers' votes.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THERE is something "new under the sun," for American owners of big stores in the big Paris Magasins, and other imitations of the real American department store.

You see a deep-chested French peasant or city charreter driving his powerful draft horse harnessed, tandem, four, five, six in a row, cracking his long whip, wearing velvet trousers, bright blue, nearly a yard wide at the knees, fitting tightly at the ankle.

That would be interesting to take home for riding or bicycling.

O CONSISTENCY!

I have read that consistency is a jewel. . . . I have also read that consistency is the bugaboo of little minds. . . . And I know that many cruel, vain, unfriendly fellows have thought, "Consistency, humbly, loving thoughts. For example:

Jean Jacques Rousseau dumped his children into orphan asylums and left them there, but he wrote: "To try to conceal his own heart is a bad means to read that of others."

Voltaire was a cynical and slippery fellow and you could not always trust what he said, but did say: "There is infinitely less wickedness on the earth than we are told and believe there is."

Dr. Samuel Johnson was a great groucher who would rather knock you down than reason with you, but he growled: "If a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man, sir, should keep his friendship in constant repair."

Henry David Thoreau was a prickly fellow and his manners weren't always of the best but he wrote: "However mean your life is, meet it and live it; do not shun it and call it hard names. It is not so bad as you are."

Sir Francis Bacon took bribes when he was a judge but he wrote fine essays and remarked that "revenge is a kind of Wild Justice which the more man's nature runs to the more ought Law to weed it out."

Jonathan Swift lied to the woman who loved him and broke her heart but he wrote: "When a true genius appears in the world you may know him by this sign that the dunces are all in confederacy against him."

Because we dislike part of a man, we need not reject all of him. A man may be a bore, yet speak the truth. The lady who frowns on you may smile sweetly on another. . . . Not everybody has the same opinion of You, either.

CONCERNING RELIGION.

Among the great men of Kentucky was John G. Carlisle.

Mr. Carlisle loved his fellows and was beloved by them. He had the capacity for enjoyment in every environment, and no matter whether the party, gathering or crowd were rich or poor, high or low, intellectual or uneducated, he became one and sank the lawyer and statesman. He had a rare sense of humor, loved good stories and told them well. One of the stories he told illustrates his views of the humorous.

A bill had been introduced in the Kentucky legislature to repeal the fox-scorpion bounty. A mountain member moved to have it referred to the committee on religion and morals. When asked why that committee, he replied: "If you don't pay nothing for ketchup, the foxes, nobody'll kill 'em. If foxes ain't killed, they'll kill the chickens; then they'll be no chickens, and then they'll be no preachers; for where they ain't no chickens they ain't no preachers, and where they ain't no preachers they ain't no religion on morals."

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:04. Sun rises tomorrow 7:05.

There are three bad things to be fought in the present presidential campaign—waste, falsification and hypocrisy. All real Americans should fight for things that go for making good government.

Pap says when she was courtin' Mother she used to faint at the slightest provocation, but she doesn't anymore because she can't depend upon any one to carry the water.

UNBOUNDED MIRTH

"I should like a Prometheus." "Bound or Unbound?" "Oh, how queer. So you sell unbound books. Why I want mine bound, of course."

"You don't understand. Both books are bound, but we have a Prometheus Bound and a Prometheus Unbound. Would you like the Bound bound or Unbound bound?"

"Oh, either the Bound bound or the Unbound; they both seem to be bound in the end."

At this point the clerk bounds the Unbound from the customer's head, thereby breaking the binding. "By Jove," says the customer, bounding from the store, "the bounder was bound he'd kill me!" Moral: Don't measure thickness by hat-bindings. You are bound to go wrong.

A New York stenographer married her millionaire lawyer employer. She evidently was a good stenographer.

Some men like the new electric irons because the cord handicaps them in their flight across the kitchen.

RUNNING SCHEDULE

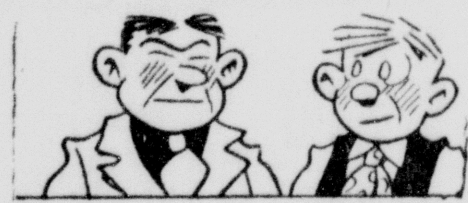

Old Lady to boy engrossed in cheap novel—"How often does this elevator go up, boy?" "Elevator Boy—"It goes up at the end of every chapter, lady."

An old timer can remember when congressmen had a fair, reliable method of crop reduction. They mailed to their farmer constituents seed which wouldn't germinate.

An authority says speakers are not born, they are made. He evidently means good speakers.

So many persons take themselves too seriously and their work not seriously enough.

A Kansas lady got a divorce because her husband made her stuff rich. That she said, was too much. What some gals would have done to a bird like that! Fed him something soothing!

Strong and silent men are a puzzle. If they keep still, how do they get into enough trouble to develop strength?

Probably the man who says he would just as soon be hanged for a sheep as a lamb is still voting in favor of capital punishment.

At a meeting of coroners of Pennsylvania it was voted that more care should be taken to avoid the accidents in this state. And the coroners get paid for their work at that.

In a small town in Mississippi on a hot dusty day, two negro baseball teams, surrounded by their dusky devotees, were engaged in a very important baseball game.

The colored preacher of the community had been approved by both teams for the position of umpire in this contest—because, as the home team pointed out, a person couldn't go wrong.

The visiting team's clean-up man stood in the batter's box. The bases were loaded.

"Ball one, high!" the voice of authority boomed.

"Ball two, low!"

"Ball three, inside!"

"Ball four, low and wide—you are out!"

"How does you talk, Mister Ump?" Ah gets a base for 'dat!" screamed the mutinous batsman.

"Brother, you is right—but de bases am loaded, an' ah ain't got no place to put you. You is out!"

Customer: "May I have my boiled egg order changed to scrambled?" Waiter (last year's football star): "Signals over, break up the play."

TODAY'S STORYETTE

The late William Astor Chanler, author and explorer, had a soft spot in his heart for modern youth, and he said one day at a luncheon: "The crusty censors, who attack modern youth remind me of a man who ran an answer-to-correspondents column."

"A question came into him one day. 'Do you think it is right for a girl to sit on a man's lap even if she is engaged?' "His answer was: 'Yes, if it's our girl and our lap. Yes, again. If it is some other chap's girl and our lap. But if it is our girl and some other chap's lap, then decidedly no! We don't approve of all this modernity!'"

The champion husband caller in Massachusetts can be heard for half a mile. She says it saves her a lot of steps looking for her husband to ask him to meals. Sound the alarm!

THE WORST IS YET TO COME

Patient: "I'm afraid, doctor, that there's very little hope for me." Doctor Cutter: "Nonsense. If you survive the experiments I'm going to make on you, you may live for months."

Don't confuse the spelling. Bologna requires chewing. Baloney is the kind you swallow whole.

If ignorance really is bliss the world should be popping with happiness.

A Boston man, whose early opportunities had been limited, after accumulating a fortune took to reading, and began with Shakespeare. When he had finished "the book" he remarked: "That is what I call a clever book; I do not believe there are a dozen men in Boston who could have written that book."

Poderaj—Are you saving up anything for a rainy day? Prognostic—Yes, in a little while I expect to have enough to buy the cloth for a brand new top for my old auto.

Whenever there is a crowd around when Pap buys a five center, he explains that the better brands always give him the hiccoughs.

Another puzzling thing about fast drivers is why anyone should think any place worth going to faster than 50 miles an hour.

In Spain they cut off the heads of the radicals and throw their bodies into the sea. It is claimed that such methods are very effective in ridding the country of bad boys.

The fellow who declares he has never done anything in his whole life to be criticized is either a liar or mighty uninteresting.

THE SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULT. A learned Frenchman of high position visited the great library of the royal palace in Madrid. On conversing with the librarian he found him to be a very ignorant man. The king asked his visitor what he thought of the library. "I recon-mend to your majesty to make the librarian the administrator of your finances." "Why so?" asked the king. "Because he does not make use of the treasure entrusted to him."

Almost everybody likes to hear a brass band in the park, but in a little hall it sounds as if the depression was over and the foundry had gone back to work.

A lady tax collector embezzled $21,000 of the public funds. Women seem to be able to do about everything that men do in public life now.

When Pap handed Grandad an individual drinking cup the old man felt as though he were being ostracized from society.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

A general and a colonel were walking down the street. They met many privates, and each time the colonel would salute, he would mutter: "The same to you."

The general's curiosity soon got the better of him, and he asked: "Why do you always say that?" And what the colonel answered was: "You see, I was once a private, and I know what they are thinking."

The World At A Glance

Main Political Issues.
Traveling Writers Report.
Campaign Not Interesting Yet.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

If reports from traveling correspondents may be relied upon, there seem to be merely three issues in the presidential campaign.

(1) Prosperity (the Roosevelt issue).
(2) Public spending (the Republican issue).
(3) Inflation (the Coughlin-Lemke-Townsend issue).

PROSPERITY

In spite of the worst drought on record in the United States and unsettled world conditions, business is tending toward 1929 peaks.

Few summers in American history have seen business at such a high level.

That augurs business may begin to break all records by October-November, when a renewed up-trend usually begins.

Farm prices are highly satisfactory to anybody who has any crops. President Roosevelt, in his chief campaign talks, is expected to compare conditions in 1932-33 with conditions now.

Big Business will remain against him. There are two other groups he must convince—the small merchant and the land-owning farmer. They will swing the election.

PUBLIC DEBT

The Republicans point out that the public spending of today will be the taxes of tomorrow.

It has the weight with people who have property.

It has the greatest weight in farm regions. Farmers can barely meet taxes now.

Yet farmers have been the chief beneficiaries of public spending. And the Republicans do not promise to end that part of spending.

They will give the farmer his in a new manner.

The Roosevelt method has been to combine it with a policy for land conservation, with a program for the future.

Boondoggling seemingly is the most potent campaign cry the Republicans have. So much so that President Roosevelt himself saw fit in Vermont to tell inhabitants that if it had not been for a boondoggling dam built in their state they would have suffered from flood last year as did sister states. The people cheered that. Thus it all depends on where boondoggling is whether it be considered a good or an evil.

People are fearful of debts—except when they ask for appropriations.

INFLATION

Landon's Visit To District To Bring Some Problems Here

With the Republican national campaign opening booked for West Middlesex on Saturday, August 22, the problem of what to do with the people who attend and to get them through is a question that has been discussed as one of the West Middlesex. The little town to the north isn't the only place where traffic is going to be a problem. New Castle is going to have one large enough to challenge the very best in the city administration.

The size of the crowd that will attend is anybody's guess but railroads and national committee officials are talking 100,000. Certainly the figure will approach that for already there are at least 26 special trains scheduled to move in.

East And West
Chicago has special trains. Philadelphia has several. Detroit has at least one, there will be others from Kentucky, Indiana, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Erie, and many more. In addition there will be countless thousands going by automobile and right here is where New Castle cuts into the traffic jams.

All automobile traffic from the east and south must go through New Castle. Both the Wilmington road and the Highland Heights road can handle only two lanes of traffic which is going to stop any fast movement.

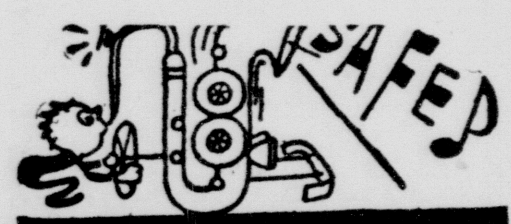

Going to West Middlesex the traffic through New Castle is going to be heavy. Returning from West Middlesex it is going to be something to give traffic officials a headache built for a horse. Motorists going to West Middlesex will be going through all Saturday morning. With the closing of the rally everybody will want to get out at once and that is where the fun will start.

What About Food?
The rally will close about time for dinner and the bulk of the traffic being from the east and south the cars will be pulling into New Castle with hungry motorists. Where to park them and how to feed them is one for the Oracle of Delphi. Certainly they can't be fed at West Middlesex.

The Landon rally will tax the abilities of all officials not only of New Castle but of the towns on each side of West Middlesex. New Castle will get the bulk of the jam for here is where the roads diverge. New Castle will also be the headquarters of the state and national committees of the Republican parties which will mean conferences and visitors.

It promises to be a very elegant time for everybody with accent on traffic jams. It has been suggested that parking be ruled out on Washington, Jefferson and North Mill streets for the day, and that the city be placarded from all approaching highways. Both the Wilmington road and the Highland Heights road should be placarded under the suggestion to permit these two arteries to be used.

These are only suggestions. Another is that all available roads, improved and unimproved be placarded towards West Middlesex. It's a man sized job for the police force of New Castle all day of August 22 and probably all night.

Veterans Bureau Representative To Explain New Laws

Contact Representative Will Be Here Next Week To Interview Claimants

Word was received today by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, that John P. Reynolds, contact representative of the United States Veterans Administration, at Pittsburgh, will be in New Castle on Wednesday, August 12 for the purpose of explaining the benefits of recent congressional legislation to claimants and their dependents.

Mr. Reynolds will be at the Legion Home on North Jefferson street, between the hours of 1 and 5 p. m. and 7 and 8 p. m.

Veterans who have claims against the government, or dependents of veterans, who have claims up, will thus have an opportunity of learning the status of their claims and what legal rights they may have in the same.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS IN WENDELL CASE

Report Indictments Voted Against Six Men In Connection With Affair

(International News Service)
NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 8.—With the federal grand jury, which has been investigating the kidnapping of Paul Wendel, adjourned until September 14, reports were current today that indictments had been voted against six men in connection with the affair.

The indictments were said to have been voted just before the jurors adjourned late yesterday and are reported to charge kidnapping and conspiracy to violate the Lindbergh law.

The men reportedly named are Ellis Parker, chief of the Burlington county detectives; his son, Ellis Parker, Jr.; Murray Bleefeld, Martin Schlossman and Harry Weiss, who were indicted on abduction charges in Brooklyn, and Dr. Carroll T. Jones, superintendent of the Home for Feeble Minded Males in New Lisbon, N. J.

City-Wide Play Day Observed

Estimate 1500 Children Take Part In Program Friday At Gaston Park

The City-wide play day held at Gaston Park, Friday, August 7, was a great success. It is estimated that approximately 1500 children were on the playground during the day.

A series of competitive games were arranged which kept the participants of each playground busy throughout the day.

The Senior volleyball team of Gaston Park carried off the senior volleyball honors for the day by defeating Rose avenue 15 to 7 and Ben Franklin 15 to 10. Gaston Junior volleyball team also carried away the junior honors by defeating Hillside 15 to 14. The girls of Gaston Park held up their part of the program by defeating Hillside girls in volleyball by the score of 15 to 4.

The doubles horse shoe honors were carried off by Rose avenue of which Kelly and Davis did some very outstanding pitching. The singles championship was taken by Gaston.

The outstanding event of the day was an all star baseball game between the Senior and Junior teams of the playground league. The game was a hard fought ball game all the way through with the Juniors getting the best of the game in the last frame when "Shorty" Yerage hit a four sacker and won the game 9 to 8.

In addition to the competitive games a handicraft exhibit was held. This exhibit displayed some outstanding craft work carried on by a staff of N. Y. A. girls under the direct supervision of Miss Janice Wrathall.

Arrest Coal Bootleggers In New York

Start Move To Halt "Bootleg" Sales From Pennsylvania Mines

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—With opening guns fired in a series of spectacular raids late yesterday, district Attorney William C. Dodge and police Commissioner Valentine today declared war on independent coal dealers who transport thousands of tons of "bootleg coal" into New York from eastern Pennsylvania.

The drive against "coal bootlegging" long a thorn in the side of Pennsylvania mine owners and old, established retailers here, was decided upon by Valentine and Dodge after they had received complaints from the coal merchants association and the fuel merchants association, representing retail firms.

Detectives in squad cars paid flying visits to the headquarters of suspected independent dealers, and arrested 12 men. Two of the men arrested were alleged to be dealers. Seven were truck drivers and three helpers. The suspected dealers were charged with conspiring with groups of motor truck operators to transport into New York coal stolen from Pennsylvania anthracite mines and sold here at $2 a ton less than the price charged by legitimate dealers.

Dodge, after questioning the ten drivers and helpers and the two alleged dealers, decided he had learned enough of the coal bootlegging practice to launch a grand jury investigation next Wednesday. Meanwhile Nowasatka and Slutsky were to be arraigned on tentative charges in felony court some time today.

Decree In Divorce Is Granted Rhodes

In the divorce case of James Abraham Rhodes of Taylor township against Olive Kelly Rhodes, Judge W. Walter Braham has handed down a decree, granting the divorce, but prohibiting Mrs. Rhodes from marrying a man named Emery, during the lifetime of Rhodes. The couple were married in October, 1931, but never lived together. The application was made on the grounds of adultery.

HAM A LA KING

Make a cream sauce, adding one-half teaspoon dry mustard, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, three tablespoons diced green pepper, one and one-half cups sautéed mushrooms and two cups of diced cooked ham. Cook together, stirring constantly, for five minutes, then serve on buttered toast.

It is said that if you are bothered with your eyeglasses blurring from steam forming on the lenses, you can remedy it by wiping with a clean cloth dipped in glycerine.

Confesses To Many Thefts

Young Man Pleads Guilty In Number Of Minor Robbery Cases

Arthur Barkley, 26, New Castle R. D. is held in default of $1200 bail in the county jail awaiting the next term of court having pleaded guilty last night before Alderman James C. Brice to charges of breaking, entering and larceny, according to State Trooper Ralph Mears of the New Castle substation who arrested Barkley Friday.

According to the confession the State policeman says Barkley made, he committed depredations as follows:

In November, 1934, stole a turkey from Frank Forbes, R. D. 4.

In November or December, 1934, stole a turkey from Everett McConnell, R. D. 4.

In November 1935, stole two roosters from Charles Breneman, Volant, R. D. 2.

In December 1935, stole a turkey from Everett McConnell, R. D. 4.

In January or February, 1936, stole a sheep from Tom Cooper, R. D. 3.

In February, 1936, stole six hams from a man named Strickenburg, on a farm between Harmony and Prospect, Butler county.

In January of February, stole a tire pump, "jack" and chains from Charles Breneman, Volant, R. D. 2.

In March, 1936, stole a block and tackle from a Mr. Shaw, R. D. 6.

In July, 1936, stole 30 pounds of honey from a farm near Harmony and North Park.

In his confession he alleged that when he visited the Cooper place and stole the sheep and also when he stole a turkey from McConnell in December, 1935, he was accompanied by Ted Bouck, Harlansburg, who now is in jail, the police state.

Martin Gantz Reunion Will Be Next Week

Expect Large Crowd At Annual School Reunion August 13 In Christian Church

COMMITTEES WILL MEET ON TUESDAY

With the Martin Gantz school reunion just a few days away, final plans are being shaped by the officers and committees. Friday night the invitations committee had a meeting and was gratified to find that a great amount of interest is being shown by out-of-towners and that numerous reservations have been made by people living far and near.

The reunion date is Thursday of next week, August 13, and the place, the First Christian church.

Earl Douglas, president, said today that the reunion is for anyone who ever attended or taught classes at Martin Gantz school. It isn't only for the old timers but for the young people as well. In fact a special effort is being made to have present the members of the very last classes to attend school before the building was abandoned.

All are urged to buy their supper tickets just as soon as possible in order that the committees may know how many plates to prepare. Arch Cubison reports that a fine program has been planned and there will be lots of fun for everybody.

Next Tuesday evening all of the reunion committees will meet at the Lawrence Bottling Works to place the finishing touches on all plans.

Alleged Numbers Operators Taken

Each Charged With Suspicion Place $150 Forfeit; Fail To Appear

William Truby and Charles Huddle were arrested on a charge of suspicion of being affiliated with the "Numbers" lottery, Friday afternoon the former at the South Jefferson street bridge and Huddle at his barber shop, West Lawrence street. Taken to police headquarters they placed a $150 each for a hearing this morning but failed to appear.

Detectives John Moore and John Young and Patrolman Carl Wallace found $36.31 and slips in Truby's possession they alleged. Numbers books and tally sheets were found in Huddle's place, it was reported.

"Cliff" Aultman Wedded For Year

Marriage Of Star Geneva Athlete Of Recent Years Is Revealed

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—A romance that took root on the campus at Geneva College and bloomed into matrimony a year later—to be kept secret yet another year—was revealed here today.

"The boy" was Clifford "Cliff" Aultman, one of the best all-around athletes Geneva ever had. "The girl" was pretty Miriam Marcy Hood, one time May Queen at the college.

The 27-year-old athlete and his 24-year-old sweetheart were married a year ago at Chautauqua, N. Y., where both were visiting friends at a summer cottage. The wedding was not known, however, until the bride let the cat out of the bag at her home in Rochester, N. Y., yesterday.

Aultman was graduated at Geneva in 1935, with a bachelor of science degree. Miss Hood was graduated in music at Geneva in 1930 and secured her bachelor of arts degree in 1934.

The couple will make their home at Ben Avon, where Aultman teaches mathematics and coaches football and basketball.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

To Discontinue Postal Branch

Seventh Ward Station Force Will Be Moved Uptown October 1

ECONOMY STRESSED; NO SERVICE CHANGE

The Mahoningtown branch station of the New Castle post office on North Liberty street, in the Seventh Ward will be closed on September 30 and the ward's mails handled direct from the main office uptown commencing October 1. Postmaster Richard A. Steen announced today.

Washington authorities of the post office department today instructed the postmaster to proceed with arrangements for the transfer of the branch operations to the main building.

The postmaster declared that the transfer will be made purely in the interests of economy and without any sacrifice to the present service.

Superintendent Edwin M. McBride and one clerk and three carriers, one a rural route postman, will be transferred uptown when the station is closed. The government's lease on the present branch quarters, occupied since 1905, expires September 30.

Postmaster Steen made it plain when he announced the discontinuance that the Seventh ward mail service would be affected in no way whatever. He said:

"There will be no change in the mail service. The city carriers will be transferred there by parcel post truck and patrons will find their service changed in no way."

The communication bringing instructions for the transfer came from First Assistant Postmaster General W. W. Howes.

Missionary Circle Meets On Friday

Members Of The Opportunity Circle Have Meeting At Church

Mrs. Gertrude Marshall and Mrs. J. A. Galbraith were co-hostesses to members of the Opportunity Circle of the Presbyterian church, as they met, Friday afternoon, at the church, for their regular monthly meeting.

Roll call was answered by a verse on "Faith", afterwards Mrs. H. E. Rhodes lead in the devotionals. Mrs. A. R. Mornes and Mrs. L. M. Wilkinson were in charge of the topics, "China" and "Missionary Personnel", and were ably assisted by Mrs. C. E. Dungan and Mrs. W. F. McClurg.

A short business session followed over which the president, Mrs. George Cook, presided. The work for next year was discussed and it was decided to send some mission supplies to a school in Arizona. Work will begin in September on the new study book "Congo Crosses".

Later in the afternoon a tempting lunch was served by the hostesses. A missionary rally has been planned for September, at which all the missionary societies in the church will be present. The date will be set later.

Send Bodies Of Crash Victims Back To Homes

Girl Survivor Of Fallston Hill Tragedy Accompanies Caskets

DANGEROUS HILL REMAINS CLOSED

(International News Service)
BEAVER, Pa., Aug. 8.—Bonita Bromley's family may not have died in vain.

For, today, treacherous Fallston hill and its gory "death curve" on which her mother, father and 12-year-old brother were killed was closed to traffic and closed it will stay, asserted District Attorney Robert E. McCreary "until the state highway department does something about it."

An inquest in the tragedy was held today and after it was concluded 16-year-old Bonita accompanied the caskets containing the bodies of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Bromley and her brother, Bertram, Jr., back to Maryland for burial.

Forests Move By Vigilantes
Action of the district attorney in closing the death-dealing highway may have forestalled action by vigilantes, it was disclosed. A secret group was being organized to close the highway had the district attorney not taken steps, it was said. There were some reports the deadly curve was to have been blasted shut.

At Pittsburgh, N. S. Sprague, chief engineer for the state highway department, said a contract for a new road eliminating the famous "death curve" where at least 10 lives have been lost, according to McCreary, will be let about October 1.

Meanwhile, as if he had a premonition of death, Bromley made a will the night before he left on the vacation trip which ended in tragedy, it was disclosed. As the 35-year-old federal government employee signed the document, he said to Bird H. Dolby, his close friend and attorney:

Makes Will
"I think it is safest to make a will before going on this trip. It's a long way to California and there are so many accidents on the roads these days."

Dolby, here today to complete arrangements for the removal of the bodies, said Bromley had no premonition of death but was by nature a cautious and prudent man. He was unable to estimate the extent of the estate but it was believed it will be sufficient to make life economically easier for the bereaved Bonita.

Bonita can make her home with any one of her three aunts, one in Ohio and two in Kentucky, but she was too engulfed by the immensity of the tragedy to make a decision. She alone escaped from the flaming family car upon which a truck and trailer upset on the "death curve."

Aroused townspeople came to the support of McCreary in closing the road. A prior attempt to close a "death curve" resulted in a battle with the state. Pennsylvania state highway patrolmen, smashed the barricades and Fallston firemen turned a high pressure hose on them but Judge William A. McConnell finally granted the state an injunction opening the road.

Mason McCulloch, 32, the driver of the death truck and Alfred Bain, 34, his helper, both of Detroit, faced involuntary manslaughter charges as a result of the tragedy.

Smart women in Paris are wearing many navy and white costumes with touches of red, or the tri-color ribbon cockade pinned on their bodies, or boutonnieres of daisies, poppies and cornflowers.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Gives Sides Of Union Argument

Craft Unionism And Vertical Organization's Sides
Are Both Outlined
By Observer

BIG BATTLE OF CENTURY BREWING

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Craft unionism's objection to industrial unionism is easily understandable.

Perhaps it is unfair to say that craft unionists outright object to industrial unionism; on industrial lines they profess to be favorable to it in certain circumstances. However, the industrial unionists charge that the craftmen have sabotaged the former's efforts to effect vertical organization. It is a fact that the craft-dominated A. F. of L. has been very hesitant to grant charters to the industrial type of unions anyway.

And the reason why, as previously marketed, is perfectly apparent.

POLICY ONE OF SCARCITY

The machinists for example, are a highly skilled trade.

Their interest is to maintain machinists wages at maximum.

John D. Frey, president of the A. F. of L.'s metal trade department, which includes the Machinists' union, is a leader in the campaign to discipline John L. Lewis Messiah of the industrial movement and his followers.

To a certain extent they have been able to do this through the exercise of a kind of monopoly. That is to say, they have controlled apprenticeship; they have permitted only a limited number of young men to learn their craft. They have seen to it that, in normal times, machinists were kept fairly scarce. There may have been an excess of them during the depression, but not ordinarily.

A NARROWED VIEW

Now, machinists' services are required in many different industries. A given industry may employ a comparatively small staff of machinists but a great deal of other classes of less adequately paid labor.

The pay of other labor has been a matter of indifference to the machinists. They have "theirs" as the saying is; their concern ends there.

I do not mean this too literally. Many an enlightened craft unionist has a keen regard for the welfare of unorganized labor, as well as for that of his own and affiliated crafts. But the natural tendency is to narrow the craftsmen's viewpoint.

Relatively unskilled workers sense it. They complain of the "tyranny of labor" as well as the "tyranny of capital."

PULLS WAGES DOWN

The craftsmen's argument is that an industrial organization (all classes of labor within that industry) will tend to pull down highly skilled labor's wages to the level of the less skilled.

There may be something in it. Yet John L. Lewis contends that the commoner forms of labor's cause must be considered or communism will follow. Commoner labor, he asserts, must be reckoned with; it is not so vocal as the A. F. of L., but it is vastly more numerous—and, in an emergency as in Spain, can be desperately dangerous.

LEWIS' ARGUMENT

Lewis' contention is that industry, as of today, automatically is vertical.

For instance, if an industry, including 20 to 30 crafts must be organized to protect labor's rights, it is hopeless to try to organize it 20 or 30 different ways; it must be organized as an INDUSTRY.

But the A. F. of L. wants it organized 20 to 30 different ways.

VIEWPOINTS CHANGE

The I. W. W. was the original of John L. Lewis' program.

It was thought then to be the ultimate of radicalism.

Now, much the same thing, under John L. Lewis (as industrial unionism), it is moderate—anti-communistic and anti-Pasist.

The A. F. of L. once deemed "red" now is rated as too reactionary for any use.

Johnstown Is Awaiting Legion

Plans Are Being Made For Entertainment Of Thousands Of Visitors This Month

JOHNSTOWN, Aug. 8.—Preparing for the heaviest invasion of visitors this city has ever witnessed, the Johnstown police department, under the direction of Mayor Daniel J. Shields, and Chief of Police Harry F. Klink, have laid out parking lots to accommodate 16,000 cars during the 18th department convention of the American Legion Thursday Friday and Saturday, August 20-22.

With assurance of the presence at the convention of a host of notables, including Governor George H. Earle, Chief Justice John W. Kephart, Past National Commander Edward Hayes and the Legion department commanders of seven other states, Johnstown has prepared every little detail for the expected 25,000 visitors.

The Point Stadium with a seating capacity of 22,000 will be the scene of many of the major attractions, including the attractive boxing card on Thursday night; the state championship bugle and drum corps contest Friday night and the wind-up and grand review of the mammoth parade Saturday afternoon.

Members of the 40 & 8, fun-making unit of the Legion, are looking forward with interest to the grand "wreck" of Thursday, August 20, when the guest of honor will be Joe Breen of Philadelphia, founder of the "Hommes."

DOLLAR DAY

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 12

Trade only with official Dollar Day Stores. They will display "Orange and Black" window banners.

Probably at no time in the memory of this generation has such a money-saving opportunity been staged. Thrifty folks will invest to the full capacity of their needs and ability to buy. Plan now to attend the feast of extraordinary values that will be offered by more than 45 New Castle merchants for one day only—Wednesday, August 12th.

Be Sure To Read Monday's News!

On Court House Hill

The New Brighton Building and Loan Association has issued a writ of possession against Mariano Prascetti and his wife to secure possession of a property in Wayne Twp. and the papers have been served through the sheriff's office. The property was sold by the sheriff recently to the Building and Loan Association.

Jos. S. Rice, use of J. Ford Fulkerson, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Sherman K. Levine, administrator in the estate of R. T. Wick. Fulkerson, a brother-in-law of Wick, paid for Wick's funeral expenses, $310. The Rice Company assigned the claim to Fulkerson who is now attempting to collect it from the Wick estate.

Former County Controller R. C. McCaslin of New Wilmington, was a visitor at the court house offices today. Mr. McCaslin is very much interested in the coming visit of Governor Landon, Republican presidential candidate, to West Middlesex, and says that the people of New Wilmington will do their best to help take care of the big crowd expected at the coming rally. Efforts to secure accommodations in New Wilmington are already being made. Quite a number of citizens will lodge visitors.

Prothonotary John A. Edgar has a list of 160 applicants for citizenship, who will appear before the examiners here for a preliminary examination next week after next. It is expected that the greater part of the week will be taken up in hearing the cases. Despite the fact that the last list up for naturalization broke the records, the present list is still larger. Where all those applicants come from is somewhat of a mystery. Naturalization courts have been held here for many years and there has always been a fairly large class, and during the past year or more especially large classes. So far as known very few foreigners have been coming into the county, during the past few years, probably not as many as have been going out. The only inference, therefore, is, that there have been a great many residents who have not been citizens. Prospects of old age pensions appears to have been the stimulus that has brought the increased list of applicants.

It is rather a singular coincidence that the two longest special sessions of the legislature have been under Democratic administrations, far removed from each other. In 1883 Governor Robert E. Pattison convened a special session of the legislature which lasted for 182 days. The present legislature, just coming to a close has been in session 94 calendar days, the second longest in history. While the Democratic governors hold the record for the longest sessions, former Governor Gifford Pinchot, Republican, holds the record for the largest number of special sessions called. He convened five during his two four year terms, three to consider unemployment relief, one to consider "giant power" legislation and another liquor control. Special sessions bring the legislators considerable additional money as they get $500 per session, together with numerous trips home at ten cents a mile. In the session just ending 258 legislators drew a total of $ 129,000 and a large amount for mileage.

If it is found to be impracticable to widen the Youngstown hill road from the end of the three lane traffic to Parkstown Corners, the county commissioners are of the opinion that it would relieve traffic greatly if the Harbor road by the way of Sampson street were improved. It is believed that practically all of the heavy trucking business going toward Youngstown would go this way if the roads were improved. The Youngstown hill is one of the steepest in this section and it is likely that truckers would take another route if it were possible. There would also be considerable automobile traffic by way of the Harbor if the road were improved. At present there is considerable traffic by way of the Pulaski road to the Harbor and also over the road which leads west from Walmo. Efforts to get releases on the Youngstown road or even get an estimate of damages have failed.

James L. Pink, finance director who has performed the duties of Mayor Charles E. McGrath during the latter's vacation has conducted the office with dispatch. It required only three minutes yesterday to hold police court. Before His Honor, stood a man who had imbibed too much and then erred in ridiculing an officer. "We cannot stand for that," said Pink. "The officer is employed to do his duty. He did it. You are fined $5.00." The man was apologetic and told His Honor that he did not remember what happened.

Mike Scanlon, local contractor, was in city hall yesterday. He said that as yet he has not got started well at the airport.

It is believed that council will know Monday exactly how much the county commissioners will pay toward equipment and materials to be used at the airport. They informally agreed to pay up to $4,000 and pay half of the bills each month. The bills for equipment and materials may not run that high. The sponsor's share was $11,000, of which the city has taken care of $7,000, in engineering services, tools, etc.

Curfew law will be enforced this fall, Chief of Police Ralph Criswell indicated recently. At present the children are on vacation, have no studies and so long as they do not get into trouble the chief of police believes it not necessary to send the children home at night.

Parking laws are being enforced wherever there are signs these days, according to a perusal of the police docket.

TOO MUCH THOMPSON GETS THOMPSON IN THOMPSON'S COURT

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 8.—George Thompson faced George Thompson in the role of judge and prisoner across the bar of justice in police court here today.

George B. Thompson, charged with drunkenness, stood before George M. Thompson, the mayor, Defendant Thompson admitted over-imbibing from a bottle of liquor last night. The bottle bore the inscription "Sam Thompson." Verdict, Defendant Thompson was allowed to go on his way without his whiskey. Mayor Thompson didn't indicate what would become of the bottled "Sam Thompson."

Yankees Are Declared In; Hold Big Lead

New York Yanks Now Have Eleven Game Lead In American League

PITTSBURGH TRIPS CINCINNATI TWICE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Eleven games in the lead, the New York Yankees today can be declared champions of the American League and world series entrants for the first time since 1922.

The reborn "murderers' row" has knocked off opposition in an uninterrupted march begun soon after the start of the season and now need only an even break—roughly through their remaining 52 games to breeze in, the result being that full attention can be focused on the National League, where they still have pennant races.

The odds on the Yankees are 1 to 4 today, shortest in years at this stage of the season, with the Tigers second choices at 5 to 1, making it virtually "no contest" as Mr. Broadway Jack Doyle, betting commissioner, sees it.

To the Yanks themselves, the pennant race has become incidental, and the goal now is to break their league record of 110 victories set by the original "murderers' row" of 1927.

The Yanks make no secret of pulling for the Giants to win the National League flag, feeling the perfect set-up would be a world series on the subway.

Picked to supplant the Tigers as league champs soon after an epidemic of sickness and injuries was dispelled in the opening days of the race, the Yanks have demonstrated their class by going into only one slump, and even in that stretch they got an even break in a long home stay, although they were manhandled by the Browns, of all people.

When they slipped back into high, they began breaking the backs of contenders, leaving only the Tigers as a threat, with the White Sox as dark horses, if a terrific upset is in the making.

The Yanks' record for the season against the other clubs shows the extent of their superiority.

They have whipped the Indians 13 games to 4, Chicago and Detroit each 10 to 7, Boston 11 to 3, Washington 8 to 3, St. Louis 10 to 7, Philadelphia 6 to 3 for 68 victories against 34 defeats.

While they nursed that record in idleness yesterday, resting for a brief home stand beginning with the Athletics today, the Indians took advantage of the opportunity to clip the Yanks' margin by a half a game. The tribe beat the White Sox, 8 to 1, Galehouse twirling the victory.

Although the Senators were held to six hits by Wes Ferrell and Jimmy Fox hit a home run for the Red Sox, the former won in the only other American League game, 3 to 2.

In the National League, the Cubs finally broke through against the Cards and cut the league lead to two games with a 14 to 5 victory, which brought even Pepper Martin to the Cardinal mound.

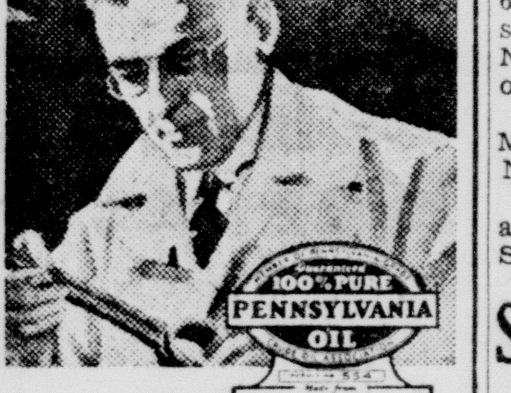

The Pirates beat the Reds twice, 5 to 1 and 10 to 0. Blanton hurling the shutout against Hallahan, and the Giants made it five straight against the Phils, 9 to 3, in the only scheduled games.

TO PLAY SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon on Lehigh field, Croton Progressives will play a double-header, opposing a Youngstown team. The games are anticipated to be fast.

Farmer Boy Making Good

Frank Sexton Hopes To Provide Marshall With Stiff Opposition

HEAVYWEIGHTS TO WRESTLE TUESDAY

FRANK SEXTON

Although the Everett Marshall-Frank Sexton heavyweight wrestling bout is several days distant, fans here are hopeful of witnessing one of the best bouts they have yet seen. Since Sexton's defeat of Chief Sannoke the Sedalia, O., farmer has been in training and hopes to provide Marshall with as stiff opposition as possible, Tuesday.

Sexton was discovered by Harry Steel, Olympic heavyweight champion in 1924 and naturally Steel was sent to Steel's alma mater, Ohio State. He left Ohio State in 1930, which caused the football and wrestling coaches to bewail their loss. Steel returned to his father's farm and branched out as a professional wrestler after a few years mat work won attention.

Gifted with a natural pair of "scissors legs" and a set of arms and shoulder muscles he became very proficient with the body scissors and the headlock and during the past two years has scored number of "upset" victories with these holds.

Marshall is proficient with practically every hold with which a wrestler is gifted. Coupled to the holds is his immense strength. When he met Jim London in Philadelphia he was out in front for several hours but lost finally. However, not long ago he won the championship.

There are three other good looking bouts on Tuesday night's calendar. Bill Lion, the matchmaker, said he desired to put on a show more exciting than that of last Monday night, hence he matched them as follows: Walter Podolac vs. Georges McLeod; Tony Marchon vs. Eddie Conley and Don Wolfe vs. Morris Suber.

Heretofore wrestling has been held each Monday, providing weather conditions did not interfere. The Tuesday date was selected because Marshall could not wrestle here Monday. Indications are a capacity crowd will witness the bouts.

Croton M. E. Wins Over Presbyterians

Croton M. E. defeated First Presbyterian mushball team, 5-2 last night in a fast contest.

Bales, on the mound for the winners, held his opponents to four bingles; Prugh for Presbyterians was touched for 8 hits. H. Booth made several spectacular catches for Croton. Croton also pulled through with three double plays. Earhart had homer for Croton; Prugh smashed a circuit clout for the losers.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Croton 100 400 0-5 8 1
Presbyterians 100 000 1-2 4 2
Batteries: Croton: Bales and J. Booth. Presbyterians: Prugh and J. McCormick.

"It Looks Bad For American Lassies," Says Mrs. Jarrett

By ELEANOR HOLM JARRETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—I've got the blues. The girls are hitting the water without me today, which is bad enough, but atop that it looks bad for the American lassies.

I did some nosing around the Olympic "village without men" and also talked to the swim coach, Ray Daughters, and found his face as long as mine. Ray slipped me the times the girls have been making in the various events, and they speak for themselves.

In the backstroke water-baby Rie Masterbrook clocked 1:16.8. Think what she is going to do to Edith Mottridge and Alice Bridges, who are good fighting kids but only hitting 1:20.0 and 1:21.1 respectively in the Olympic pool.

I saw Masterbrook parked in a front seat at the Wintergarden vaudeville theater the other night, and I almost cried when I sat in the dimmed auditorium figuring out my chances against hers in the backstroke.

The best time I've made was 1:13 and a fraction in a relay at Jones Beach, N. Y. My idea was to make it in the Olympics in 1:13 flat or bust, leaving the Dutch lassie in a boiling war.

Ray says our girls were beaten as far as time is concerned before they boarded the Manhattan.

Here's some more bad news. No less than five foreign breaststroke women do better than Dorothy Schiller's 3:14.9 in the 200 meter. The five mermmaids outshining America's lone breaststroke are Hanne Halczner, Martha Genenger, and Claire Dreyer of Germany, Elsie Jacobson of Denmark and Hedeko Machato of Japan.

Halezner is the queen of the sport and swims the distance in 2:46.6, or 20 seconds faster than our Dot. In the relay Ray has got our Dot will swamp us. Their standing record is 4:32.4, almost seven seconds faster than the United States 4:39.

It's tough reading, but dropping in the women's Olympic village wasn't anything easy. The gals are homesick and want to go home, which is a bad way to feel at the start of Olympic swimming. To win or break records your whole heart has got to be in it, and sitting around moping is just helping somebody else beat you to the finish line.

When I got back to Art (her husband) at the hotel I had a sad hunch Helen Stephens (girl track winner) would be the only lassie to send the American flag up the Olympic pole in the big bowl here, and when I think it over I get all the madder because I had the backstroke in the bag for the U. S. A.

SPORT SHORTS

The Strollers upset the S. S. Merchants 9 to 8 in a Class B league game at Gaston Park field, with Joseph the losing hurler and Lane the winning pitcher. Heims had the only extra-base hit.

West Side Sluggers defeated West Side Rangers 6-2, at Sluggers' field. Herb Krueger hit a homer with two mates on the sacks. For games with the Sluggers call 5775R and ask for Herb.

WANT GAME CANCELLED

Manager Riley of the Gersons is asked to postpone the coming Croton M. E. game, Monday night to Wednesday, August 12, at Gaston Park.

Croton M. E. will play Gersons at Elders field, Thursday, August 13. Fast games are anticipated.

A pension system under which widows, aged persons, war veterans, miners, blind persons and epidemic victims received funds regularly from the government, has been in force in New Zealand since 1898. Last year more than 40,000 persons received old age pensions.

The official flag of the city of New York, adopted in 1915, tells the story of the origin and early history of the municipality. The colors of the flag are Dutch-blue, white and orange. These same colors floated over the island more than 300 years ago.

Giddings High In Rifle Shoot

Giddings was high with a score of 193 at the New Castle Rifle shoot on their range yesterday. Second place went to R. Moore and third was taken by Allen who scored 185 hits. Other scores were as follows: McBride 184; McKibben 180; Van Horn 174 and Strausbaugh 170.

STARS CANCEL GAMES

Tomorrow's game between the Class B All Stars and the newly organized mushball team has been cancelled.

Owens To Run In Relay Race

U. S. Lead In Olympic Decathlon Event Increases Rapidly

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—While the United States' lead in the Olympic decathlon event increased rapidly with Glenn Morris of Denver, Colo., winning the high hurdles and discus events and breaking the world's record in the former to reach top place in points scored, Coach Lawson Robertson today announced the line-up in America's 400 meter relay team.

He said Foy Draper of California would run in the short relay with the redoubtable Jesse Owens, Ohio State negro flash, Ralph Metcalfe of Chicago and Frank Wykoff of Glendale, Cal.

This announcement eliminated Sam Stoller and Martin Glickman from the event, in which trials are scheduled for this afternoon.

Word that the Germans had done a trial in 40.7 seconds prompted Robertson to eliminate Glickman and Stoller and strengthen the team by substituting Owens and Metcalfe in the team.

The American 1,600-meter relay team will consist of Robert Young of California, Edward T. O'Brien of New Jersey, Harold Cagle of Oklahoma and Al Fitch of California.

The United States combination will face Finland, Japan, Austria, Poland and Hungary in the opening heat of the 1,600-meter relay.

Owens will anchor the 400-meter team with Wykoff leading off and Metcalfe running the third leg.

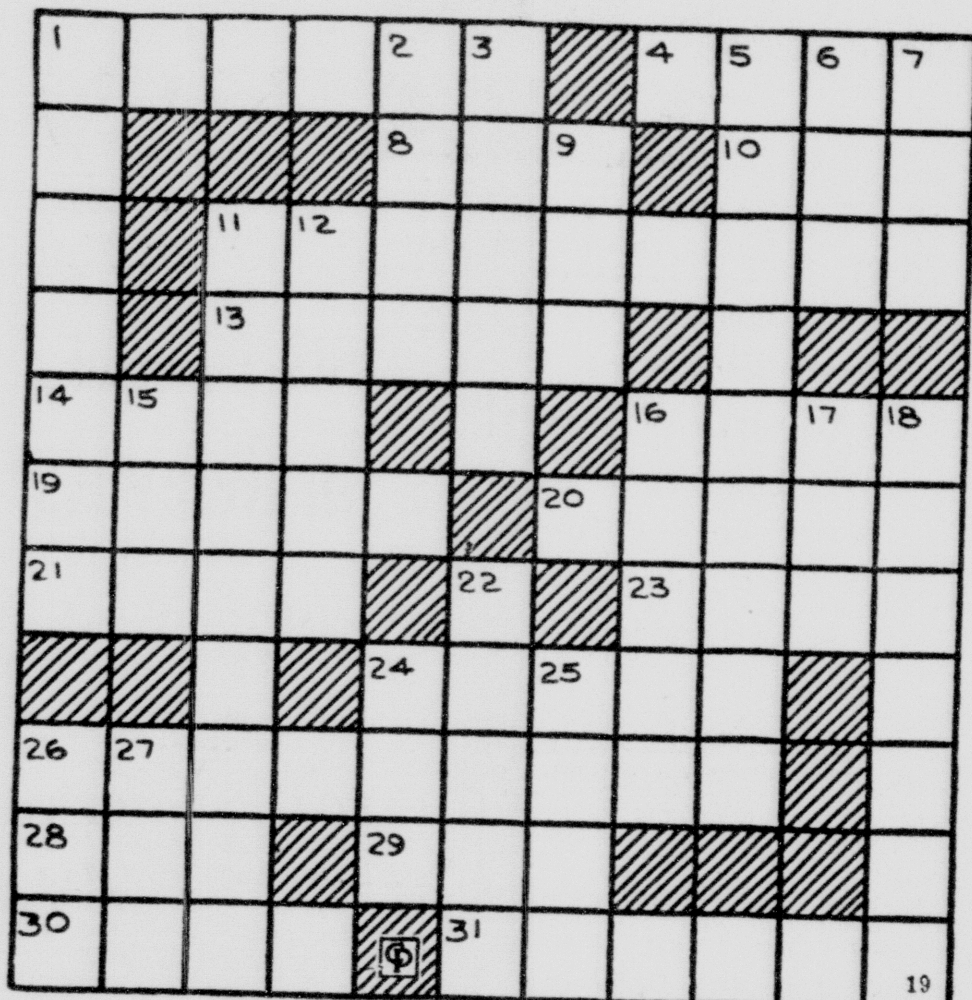

This team's opponents in the first heat will be South Africa, Japan, Italy, Finland and Austria.

Rain soaked the track overnight, but the sun came out this morning. The crowd at 9:30 a. m. was about 25,000.

AGENDA CLUB PICNIC SUNDAY

Broad Advance
In Stocks TodayRail Shares Set Pace And
Utilities Turn Vigorously
UpwardBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The broad advance in stocks was extended today, the list breaking through to new high ground for the year in active dealings.

Rail shares set the pace, as Atchafalaya, N. Y. Central and Southern Pacific reached new 1936 tops on gains running to more than 2 points. Utilities turned vigorously upward. Large blocks of stock in Columbia Gas & Electric, American Water Works, Electric Power & Light and North American brought gains of fractions to a point.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube made its daily new high for the year on a gain of a point, while Bethlehem and U. S. Steel were up about as much. Chrysler and General Motors advanced fractionally.

Individual issues, other than rails, to reach new high territory included Sears Roebuck, up 1 1/2, and General Electric, Kennecott and Borden, each of which were up nearly a point.

Union Carbide lost a point before encountering support and American Can held around its previous close. National Cash Register slipped fractionally.

Bonds were generally steady. Grains showed modest improvement. Cotton was slightly easier to the government crop today.

To Ask Extension
Of Time On New
City BuildingBorough Manager Will Go To Harrisburg To Convene
With State Officials

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 8.—Borough Manager L. W. Monroe accompanied by Architect B. J. McCandless will leave the early part of next week for Harrisburg, Pa., where they will confer with state officials in regards to the new municipal building under construction in Ellwood City.

They will ask the officials to grant an extension of time on the construction of the building as requested by the Heller Brothers, contractors in charge. Due to inclement weather which delayed work 30 more working days will be needed to finish the job.

The local men will also endeavor to get an additional grant of money for extra work done on the building that had previously not been contemplated. Strengthening of the foundation, building side-walks, and other incidentals in the building, Ellwood Council, nearly $3,000 additional than what is called for in the contract. The borough hopes to get 45 per cent of the mentioned amount.

Willing Workers
At Kirker Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 3.—Misses Jean and Fanchion Kirker proved to be pleasing hostesses on Friday evening when they entertained members of the Willing Workers class of the Wurtemburg Methodist church at their home at Wurtemburg when they assembled for the August meeting.

Miss Dorothy Boots conducted the devotional period after which an election of officers to serve for one year was held with the following results: president, Miss Mildred Durnell; vice president, Miss Fanchion Kirker; secretary, Miss Virginia Hartzell; Mrs. Arthur Lutton and Mrs. Dorothy Bissell are teachers of the class.

Plans were made to hold a wiener roast at Ewing Park in the near future.

A social period followed with the group being served a tasty luncheon by the hostesses. The exact date or place of the next meeting was not determined.

Local People Take
Annual Farm Tour

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 8.—The annual Beaver-Lawrence county summer dairy tour sponsored by the Cow Testing Association was held on Friday with a large number of cars, numbering 200, wending their way to Erie county.

They visited a number of large dairy farms and witnessed various demonstrations on dairy farming. At noon they partook of a bountiful dinner at the "Swan Farm."

The trip was arranged by county agents, H. M. Gridley of Beaver, H. R. McCullough of New Castle and Paul Crossman of Erie.

Among the local folks making the tour were: Mr. and Mrs. James Guy, Catherine and Norma Jean Guy and Ralph Guy of Detroit who is visiting with his grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Friday and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Weingartner, all of Wayne township.

My New York
By James Aswell

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Small Potatoes: No movie dealing with the thrills and chills of aviation has ever flopped. Anita Louise is one of the very, very few movie actresses who were born in New York City. Suggestion for a candid camera page in one of the smart magazines; photos of half a dozen movie Romeo saps their toupees. One of the baldness "institutes" here treats moulting men by having them stand on their heads for an hour a day. Summer night item: the boys and girls strolling across the Tri-Boro bridge—a six-mile trek—for a breath of air.

When Robert Taylor, the new flicker find, was doing Broadway, a cub movie scribe asked him the old one: "Who's your favorite actor?" "Usually they hedge, but Taylor named Gary Cooper—and that's interesting mainly because Taylor and Cooper bear such a startling physical resemblance to each other that even old-line screen gapers get them mixed. There are several prominent Chinese families in the local Chinatown whose surname is Jew; probably, my laundryman tells me, a variation of the original Yew.

Out of Kentucky comes news of Andy Anderson, the orchestra pilot who is panicking the southwest with his swing rhythms. Smirk if you like, but no man's fame at that moment is so utterly and pungently American as Dizzy Dean's; it is possible to imagine almost any other sports or theatrical headliner as the idol of some other land originally—but not Dizzy. Babe Ruth, by the way, proved to be the best-known American, better known than Roosevelt or Ford, in a recent poll taken in Tokyo, Japan. One of the great mysteries will remain the reluctance of ball club managers to snap up Ruth as manager; as an occasional pinch-hitter alone he'd tilt box-office receipts enough to justify a handsome stipend. But I'm told the Babe, hot for the idea at first, wouldn't manage now if they begged him.

If you like chicken: Tillie's, where a buxom colored mammy does it in the Deep South style. Chico's, in the Village, where it is served up with yellow rice and sea food, in the Spanish manner that so many chefs try to bring off here and fail. Or the Golden Horn, a Turkish-Armenian eatery in 51st street, where the fowls are smothered and served with stuffed grape leaves, in the Far East fashion. Or the Madison, in the avenue of that name, where the Maryland technique prevails. Or, if you're flush, at the Marguery, where breast of the bird is served under glass with Virginia ham.

Sights that have vanished from the streets of New York in the past five years: the two old ladies in Victorian garb who went for a drive every afternoon in Central Park in a handsome horse-and-buggy. The Wendell mansion in Fifth avenue, with its reclusive old sisters who dwelt there, and the three million-dollar romping space for the Wendell dog. Speakeasy basements, replete with peepholes. All but two of the hansom cabs in front of the Plaza hotel. The Rolls-Royce taxicab. The elderly folk who crept about the streets in "delectable" vintage of the war. Technicians and Humanists and the soapbox orator in Union Square who spoke twice a week in praise of Huey Long.

Library Books

—And Comments
(By the Free Public Library)

If a book agent claims that a book or set contains certain material—that it is complete and accurate—that it is up-to-date—that it is compiled by experts—one's natural inclination is to verify his statements before buying. But where can one turn? To the Subscription Books Bulletin, which evaluates encyclopedias, books, and sets sold by canvassing agents.

Books and sets are not all of equal merit. Some are better than others, show more care and more scholarship, are better assembled and arranged, better made and illustrated, in general more useful.

It is to separate the wheat from the chaff and to protect libraries, schools and homes from wasting public and private funds that the American Library Association issues the Subscription Books Bulletin.

It is prepared by a voluntary committee of the Association which, with the aid of librarians and teachers, gathers all the facts it can regarding subscription books. Sets are examined, compared with other sets of similar content, checked for accuracy and reliability and reviewed outspokenly.

About fifteen or twenty books and sets are written up in each issue, January, April, July and October. The Subscription Books Bulletin may be examined at the Free Public Library.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PREPARING FOR SCHOOL

About 2,000,000 children will go to school next month for the first time. From now till then much may be done to assure their success at school. We parents shall prepare them physically, emotionally, mentally.

In many communities there already has been the summer round-up conducted by the P. T. A., with the aid of the public health authorities, and many civic minded doctors and dentists. Accordingly children who will enter school next fall have been corralled and examined. Parents of these children found to need their tonsils or adenoids removed or teeth repaired or other medical care, have been urged to take their children to their family doctor or dentist. Also those young children whose parents were wise enough were immunized against diphtheria by toxin anti-toxin and vaccinated against smallpox.

I earnestly entreat my fellow parents of children or six or nine months of age who have not had these children so immunized and vaccinated, to do so at once. Why let your precious children face death from these horrible diseases which can so easily and safely be prevented?

Does your little child look hopelessly forward to his first day at school? He has if you have skillfully built up this attitude in him. Even if some older children have teased him by telling him frightful things about school, you can rid his mind of such fears since you have his confidence.

Therefore, if your child has not had many playmates his own age, make any reasonable sacrifice from now on till September to get him in touch with other children, attracting them to your home or going with him to more distant homes to Sunday school or attend a vacation Bible school may help him.

Read to him daily. If you have a typewriter—in case he will enter the first grade—show him how to type letters and words as you name and spell them for him. Call to his attention traffic signs, and legends at the grocery's. Make placards with the names of objects about the house fastened to these objects. Read the comics to him. A little familiarity with the alphabet, and a few words and phrases will be helpful to him. But please do not bother with formal reading. Leave that to the school.
